

Beauty Therapists

Our Mission: Our aim at IPHM is to provide membership for all qualified therapists to create an independent and unified standard of practice amongst all practitioners. Accredited therapists and training providers are more likely to obtain the confidence of the public when part of a larger umbrella of other professional practitioners, however we do not make any guarantees of work in the industry and members should abide by their own countries laws and licence agreements. When you request membership with the iphm you are stating that you hold the necessary skills and qualifications as stated on your application. IPHM will take this in good faith and process your application however you may be asked for proof of any qualifications that you hold that are listed or stated on your application form at any time either on application request or at some point during your membership term.

Should you not supply said information on request and your application has been processed then please note you will not be eligible for any refund and we hold the right to withdraw your membership.

Should your membership not be accepted for any other reason than above and you have made payment then this will be refunded to you in full, however please note that you may incur a small a small admin fee which we are unable to reimburse.

IMPORTANT

1. You should only be offering therapies within the limits of your competence and training and all therapists must agree to abide by our code of ethics
2. If offering therapies in aesthetics you should hold a minimum of level 3 beauty qualification and hold a qualification in semi-permanent makeup or Microblading for a minimum of 6 months and insurance. (please note insurance can be requested from your members dashboard and you maybe eligible for a for an IPHM members discount) if you are not currently insured you should obtain this within 7 days of acceptance.

Therapists - What you are agreeing to

As an accredited IPHM therapist you must under no circumstances mislead your clients by offering therapies or services you are not qualified to do or have IPHM accreditation for. Failure to mislead the public or your clients may result in the immediate removal of your listing. Any therapist found to be in breach of this will have their listing and membership removed from our website. and no refund will be offered. IPHM hold no responsibility to anyone who has received treatments or consultation with an IPHM approved therapist.
